Thank you for giving us the opportunity to introduce "PRAXIS 360," our clients' most popular product.

In most cases, new clients come to us with a specific need. From the very first meeting, they realize our multidisciplinary approach, contextualizing each issue within the broader and more specific context of their company. This is where the relationship naturally becomes a daily practice, as we constantly measure the impact of our work on the business.

The team is made up of high-level professionals with expertise in corporate management, legal, financial, and tax matters.

"PRAXIS 360" is the agreement that allows clients to engage with this team daily and freely, without the burden of onerous hourly fees that force too many companies to forgo qualified assistance.

Mandates, or assignments, represent key moments in the life of a company and are therefore managed separately: for example, they involve extraordinary transactions, the recruitment of financial resources, the entry of new partners, legal procedures, organizational restructuring, and so on.

Friendliness is a hallmark of this firm, and our clients consider us an integral part of their team. Furthermore, thanks to "PRAXIS 360," a community has been created within which we forge synergistic and profitable collaborations, introducing managers and entrepreneurs to one another and, when necessary, to one another.

We are living through a challenging decade that has caused many businesses to struggle. In a global context, which today manifests all its limitations, corporate decision-makers are navigating by sight, struggling to cope with sudden and unpredictable changes from outside.

Who are "PRAXIS 360" clients? They are companies of all sizes and sectors, united by the desire to grow and consolidate, who must face complex decisions.

It's precisely challenging times that make us evolve, uprooting old habits and opening ourselves to new collaborations. And it's precisely in the midst of the storm that we've saved many companies and helped just as many grow.

Support is offered across four levels of service, which can also be customized. The skills available to you are summarized below. We take the liberty of emphasizing that this level of support isn't the exclusive preserve of medium-sized and large companies: large companies became such when they sought human resources capable of helping them grow.

For SMEs, we are a management body that trains managers internally. For large companies, we are an independent point of reference.
